

Allowing the media to be controlled by a few giant corporations not only lowers the quality of the entertainment and increases the number and frequency of advertisements, but it reduces news, documentaries and discussions to only those approved of by the corporate media owners. In truth, the public owns the airwaves and the freedom to hear all points of view is the tradition in this country. The corporations have no right to misuse our airwaves or monopolize our other media so as to restrict dissenting points of view. I urge that you do not allow the corporations to take over what little is left of our independent media.
